

Навчально-науковий Гуманітарний інститут
Кафедра англійської філології і перекладу

ЗАТВЕРДЖУЮ

Завідувач кафедри _____ Сидоренко С.І.

«_____» _____ 2016 р.

ТИПОВІ ТЕСТИ

З ДИСЦИПЛІНИ «Порівняльна лексикологія англійської та української мов»

Test 1.

Chose the appropriate answer (one option only):

1. Antonyms that represent two interrelated entities, one of which does not exist without another are
 - a) contradictory antonyms
 - b) complementary antonyms
 - c) contrastive antonyms

2. Notional, or ideographic, synonyms
 - a) have identical meaning and can be used interchangeably in one and the same style
 - b) are used in one and the same style, where their meanings exhibit variations
 - c) differ in both meaning and the sphere of application

3. Metaphor is based
 - a) on the similarity of entities
 - b) on the contiguity of entities
 - c) on the subsidiary concept represented by the internal word-form

4. The words “case” (справа) and “case” (коробка) are
 - a) Full lexical homonyms
 - b) Partial lexical homonyms
 - c) Partial lexico-grammatical homonyms

5. Social connotations are inherent in
 - a) Dialectal words
 - b) Jargonisms and professional words
 - c) Terms

6. Which of the following is not a ground of metaphor?
 - a) Location
 - b) General impression

c) Part-whole relation

7. house – room, family – mother, flock – bird, school – fish are

- a) hyponyms
- b) equonyms
- c) paronyms

8. Polysemy means that

- a) one and the same sound form signifies several meanings, and these meanings are interrelated
- b) one and the same sound form signifies several meanings, and these meanings are independent
- c) two words signify different meanings, but these meanings are interrelated

9. Neologisms proper

- a) are words that changed their meanings to denote new objects or phenomena
- b) develop in the language to denote objects or phenomena which already have some lexical units to denote them
- c) are new lexical units introduced to denote new objects or phenomena

10. Which of the following is a source of homonymy?

- d) split of polysemy
- e) stylistic differentiation of synonyms
- f) hyponymy

Розробник: канд. філол. н. Шахновська І.І. _____