

Literature

1. Myronets O.M., Danyliuk I.V., Dembytska N.M., Frantsuz-Yakovets T.A., Dei M.O. Current Issues and Prospects of Modern Higher Legal Education in Conditions of the Fight against COVID-19. Cuestiones Políticas. 2020. Vol. 37, № 65. P. 438-456. DOI: <http://doi.org/10.46398/cuestpol.3865.29>

2. COVID-19 and Human Rights We are all in this together. 2020. URL: https://www.un.org/victimsofterrorism/sites/www.un.org.victimsofterrorism/files/un_-_human_rights_and_covid_april_2020.pdf

3. George Mukundi Wachira. COVID-19 reaffirms the importance of good governance and effective states in Africa. ECDPM Great Insights magazine. 2020. Volume 9, Issue 3. URL: <https://ecdpm.org/great-insights/navigating-eu-au-post-covid/covid-19-good-governance-africa/> (date of access: 25.01.2021).

4. Nigeria: Protect Most Vulnerable in COVID-19 Response. 2020. <https://www.hrw.org/news/2020/04/14/nigeria-protect-most-vulnerable-covid-19-response> (date of access: 25.01.2021).

5. Cheluchi Onyemelukwe. The Law and Human Rights in Nigeria's Response to the COVID-19 Pandemic. 2020. URL: <https://blog.petrieflom.law.harvard.edu/2020/06/04/the-law-and-human-rights-in-nigerias-response-to-the-covid-19-pandemic/> (date of access: 25.01.2021).

6. Myronets O.M., Burdin M., Tsukan O., Nesteriak Yu. Prevention of human rights violation. Asia Life Sciences. 2019. Supplement 21 (2). P. 577–591.

7. Omodele Adeyemi. The dichotomy between international relations and international law in the face of the global COVID-19 pandemic. Nnamdi Azikiwe University Journal of International Law and Jurisprudence. 2020. Vol. 11, No. 2. P. 61-72.

8. Ukertor Gabriel Moti, Jeremiah Tersur Vambe. Responding to Coronavirus Pandemic in Nigeria: The policy dilemma of a vulnerable Nation – A Review. International Journal of Health, Safety and Environment. 2020. Vol. 6 (04). P. 526-533 URL: www.academiascholarlyjournal.org/ijhse/index_ijhse.htm (date of access: 25.01.2021).

UDC 340:417 (043.2)

Jarumai Cyril Joshua, Aircraft Maintenance Engineer,
Lufthansa Technik Shannon, Shannon, County Clare, Republic of Ireland

SOME ASPECTS OF MODERN IRISH LAW

By the early 21st Century further amendment to the Constitution has been necessitated by Ireland's membership of the European Union, which has involved the cession of a degree of sovereignty and the subordination of national law to European law. A significant amendment was effected pursuant to the Good Friday Agreement, when Ireland removed its territorial claim to Northern Ireland and replaced it with the principle of unity by consent [1].

Today's Irish law due to the pandemic conditions of its development is on the way to its own improvement to regulate social relations effectively and protect the interests of their participants.

The Covid-19 pandemic is the largest global pandemic in a century with enormous health, mortality, social and economic consequences. Human society is still in the early stages of learning about this infection and the causative virus SARS-CoV-2 [2].

The prevention of human rights violations is a key part of the protective policy of every country in the world [3, p. 585]. Thus, even under the world's fight against the pandemic, the mentioned key-moment has to be taken into account in the making of differently-natured legislative changes in Ireland.

The emergence of the COVID-19 (coronavirus) pandemic in late 2019 and early 2020 presented new and urgent challenges to mental health services and legislators around the world [4].

Analyzing labor law in Ireland under Covid-19, Mangan D. admits that as applied to workplaces, the query will be how to maintain these micro-communities over the course of the different phases and over a longer period of time until (if) a vaccine is developed and made widely available [5, p. 304].

Ireland for Law is a government-led initiative that promotes the use of the law of Ireland and Ireland's courts and arbitration facilities to the international business community, particularly in areas where Ireland is already a world leader, such as aviation finance, funds, insurance, tech, pharma and life sciences. Ireland for Law is the banner brand for Ireland's International Legal Services Strategy. The brand has been created to represent and position Ireland's international legal services industry [6].

Finally, in the months that follow, it is important that government officials, decision-makers and scholars use COVID-19 as an opportunity to collate experiential knowledge and insights from those working on the front-line (Gardaí, healthcare professionals, shopkeepers, bank tellers, etc.). Future research exploring the opportunities and challenges associated with maintaining mental health equilibrium and psychological wellbeing will help to identify occupational support needs, inform crucial policy and practice, and contribute to Ireland's overall level of preparedness for future national emergencies [7, p. 195].

It is important to mention that a transformational recovery of the EU economy and achievement of green and digitalization agendas would require a more sizeable and long-term investment programme than the Next Generation EU fund as currently modelled. This could be financed by the issuance of debt at EU level [8, p. 5].

Public health responses to COVID-19 are constantly changing in light of changing circumstances. These measures, to the extent that they restrict rights need to be rigorously assessed in terms of their necessity, proportionality and respect for the principle of non-discrimination [9, p. 5].

In conclusion, we have to admit that nowadays, the global community has got one more reason for its internal differently directed changes to give a rather quick reaction for its further existence and development in conditions of the fight against COVID-2019 [10, p. 439]. The Irish law is strongly involved in a proper reaction to the pandemic that predisposes appropriate changes of own legislation.

Literature

1. History of the Law in Ireland. URL: <https://www.courts.ie/history-law-ireland> (date of access: 25.01.2021).

2. Cusack D.A. COVID-19 pandemic: Coroner's database of death inquiries with clinical epidemiology and total and excess mortality analyses in the District of Kildare March to June 2020. Journal of Forensic and Legal Medicine. 2020. 76, 102072. DOI:10.1016/j.jflm.2020.102072

3. Myronets O.M., Burdin M., Tsukan O., Nesteriak Yu. Prevention of human rights violation. Asia Life Sciences. 2019. Supplement 21 (2). P. 577-591.

4. Kelly B.D., Drogin E., Mcsherry B., Donnelly M. Mental health, mental capacity, ethics, and the law in the context of COVID-19 (coronavirus). International Journal of Law and Psychiatry. 2020.73, 101632. DOI:10.1016/j.ijlp.2020.101632

5. Mangan D. Covid-19 and labour law in Ireland. European Labour Law Journal. 2020, 11. P. 298-305. DOI:10.1177/2031952520934567

6. Ireland For Law: Using Irish Law And Courts For Corporate Restructuring, Intellectual Property, Data Protection, And Derivatives. URL: <https://nysba.org/events/ireland-for-law-using-irish-law-and-courts-for-corporate-restructuring-intellectual-property-data-protection-and-derivatives/> (date of access: 25.01.2021).

7. Rooney L., McNicholas F. 'Policing' a pandemic: Garda wellbeing and COVID-19. Irish Journal of Psychological Medicine. 2020, 37. P. 192-197. DOI:10.1017/ipm.2020.70

8. Deirdre Ahern, Suryapratim Roy. Law and policy responses to Covid-19 in Ireland: supporting individuals, communities, businesses, and the economy. A Public Policy Report of the COVID-19 Legal Observatory. School of Law, Trinity College Dublin. 2020. URL: <https://www.tcd.ie/law/2020.21/Covid-19%20Public%20Policy%20Report.pdf> (date of access: 25.01.2021).

9. Coronavirus pandemic in the EU – fundamental rights implications. Bulletin. Luxembourg: Publications Office of the European Union, 2020. № 1. URL: https://fra.europa.eu/sites/default/files/fra_uploads/fra-2020-coronavirus-pandemic-eu-bulletin-1_en.pdf (date of access: 25.01.2021).

10. Myronets O.M., Danyliuk I.V., Dembytska N.M., Frantsuz-Yakovets T.A., Dei M.O. Current Issues and Prospects of Modern Higher Legal Education in Conditions of the Fight against COVID-19. Cuestiones Políticas. 2020. Vol. 37, № 65. P. 438-456. DOI: <http://doi.org/10.46398/cuestpol.3865.29>